

DAM CONTROVERSY CONTINUES TO HOLD PLACE IN SPOTLIGHT; MASS MEETING HERE SUNDAY

McHenry Leaders Can't "See" Rights of the Lake Residents

The Fox river dam controversy between residents of McHenry county and Lake county people who reside around the shores of the chain of lakes continues to hold a place in the spotlight as the leading and liveliest issue in this locality.

No one dreamed that Representative Weiss' bill appropriating $175,000 for the building of a dam in Lake county "near the Nippersink" would become an issue of state-wide importance and one in which the federal government may eventually be called upon to decide. That a very pronounced sectional fight is on, no one doubts.

"Not One Man Project"

How the McHenry group is ignoring the rights of the lake region residents in demanding that the new dam be placed below McHenry and seeking to block any move to have the dam placed where it was originally intended and in the only place where it will do any good toward relieving low water conditions in the chain of lakes has been told in newspaper articles and in many public meetings held by those who oppose the building of the dam in Lake county. "Aside from the standpoint of slight delays in navigation (mainly for the Everett Hunter Boat Co., and river residents who trade at the store of Mayor Pratt of McHenry) there is not a single reasonable argument why the dam should not be placed at the location designated in Rep. Weiss' appropriation bill," say those who claim to understand thoroughly the attitude of the McHenry men. "To say that McHenry and other river towns in the south will be without water because of a dam in Lake County is unreasonable; for will not the same amount of water flow over the dam and down stream as heretofore?" they ask.

To the cry that a dam here will interfere with navigation, they reply: "Let it interfere; the project is bigger than those who seek to block it."

Circular Carries Warning

A circular sent out last week by leaders who are interested in the project for the chain of lakes, outlined the situation and announced a meeting to be held Monday afternoon at the Mineola Hotel at Fox Lake. Following is the text of the circular: "Residents of the Fox River Chain of Lakes, do you know that unless immediate action is taken, you will lose the opportunity to have the huge new dam built at a point where it will benefit the Lake Regions? Do you want our beautiful Chain of Lakes turned into a foul smelling, slimy, weedy cesspool? Without a proper water level this is exactly what will happen. We must have good water. Without it, our millions in property values will be lost. "Powerful pressure has been brought to bear by certain misguided and misinformed residents along the Fox River between the mouth of Pistakee and McHenry to block erection of the new dam somewhere near the mouth of the river. Meetings have been held, petitions have been circulated, and they seek to force the erection of the dam near McHenry. Why? They claim that a new dam or adequate repair of the old one will give the Fox Lake Chain of Lakes plenty of water, in spite of the fact that even when the old dam was holding, we never had good water. "This misguided minority now have the presumption to tell us where the new dam shall be. Who introduced the bill and got the money, not only for the new dam, but also $10,000 to repair the old one? Did a McHenry man fight for it? No, a thousand times no. A Lake county man, State Representative Wm. F. Weiss of Waukegan introduced the bill, fought for it, and got it. Now McHenry and other river interests want to tell us how to spend it. Are you going to let them get away with it? "If a dam below McHenry would give us good water, we would certainly be for it. But it will not. The best engineers of the country have

NEWS IS ISSUED THIS WEEK UNDER MANY DIFFICULTIES

Owing to the fact that the News force has been reduced this week by three of its members, the paper is being issued with less than its usual quota of news. John Moore, foreman, has just returned today from a week's vacation trip to western Illinois; Miss Goldie Davis, Linotype operator, is in Kenosha hospital recovering from an operation, and Howard Gaston, pressman, is in high school. Add to this—Monday was Labor day which also decreased the amount of labor available for the issuing of the News.

Fox Lake Golf Club Is Host to Illinois Wis. Trapshoot

Programs are now out for the last of a series of six Trapshooting meets to be held at the Fox Lake Golf and Country Club on September 14. The shoot is being held under the auspices of the Illinois-Wisconsin Trapshooting League which organization is a member of the Western Amateur made at the tournaments will become part of the yearly W.A.T.A. official averages. A considerable number of trophies to be awarded and many well known amateur trapshooters from Illinois and Wisconsin are scheduled to compete.

Legionaire Visitor Here Is Enroute to Paris

Ernest Schwartz, of Gorham, Ill., visited over the week end at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. Boyer Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson autoed to Waukegan with him Tuesday, where he took the train for Chicago to join the Legionnaires' special train for New York, via Washington, D.C., and thence to the convention at Paris. Mr. Schwartz will be the representative from the Jackson county Legion at Paris this month. He will sail on the Leviathan Sept. 12th., and return October 20 on the President Harding.

Hunting Season Will Open October First

Word has been received from Springfield by Village Clerk Harry Isaacs that the hunting season for ducks and hens will not open this year until October 1st. This is the second year that the opening of the hunting season has been delayed until October the first. Previous to last year the date was set at Sept. 16.

said so. We are not seeking to tell McHenry how to regulate their water flow. They will have their own dam, and $10,000 to repair it. They can open or close their own dam as often as they please. They are not satisfied. They want to tell us what to do, when and how to do it. We want good water, deep enough to permit at least a motorboat to go through safely. We want water enough, and pure to swim in. We want this Chain of Lakes of Ours, this Garden Spot of America, to be a beautiful place to go. A Lake without water is a sad thing, indeed.

"Right now, while you are in the mood, write to Gov. Len Small, Springfield, Ill., and to Wm. Mulvihill, Rivers and Harbors Div., Springfield, Ill. Tell them you want the dam near the mouth of the Fox River where it empties into Pistakee, and not down the River at McHenry. Unless you tell them this, they will think that you do not care about it, and will listen to the group from McHenry. Send them telegrams, if you wish. But above all, do something."

Another Meeting Sunday

Letters sent out today carried an announcement of a second mass meeting to be held Sunday, Sept. 11, in the Catholic tent just south of the village limits of Antioch at 2 o'clock, standard time. Hon. Wm. F. Weiss, state representative, will be present. The announcement of the Sunday meeting will be found elsewhere in this issue of the News.

Badger State Shooters Are Victors In First Skeet Tourney; WCLO

Wisconsin crack shots are best, according to the result of the first skeet tournament held at C. E. Whitmore's broadcasting station, WCLO, at Camp Lake last Sunday afternoon. The Badger state team of five men defeated the Illinois team 31 points in the 1000 target shoot in the latest form of trapshooting. Incidentally Sunday's skeet meet was the first on record to be broadcast over a radio station and during the meet the WCLO announcer was kept busy telling the world who was "at bat" and the score he registered.

The next contest will be next Sunday afternoon at one o'clock and the results of this meet will also be broadcast over the Camp Lake station. A handsome loving cup, the gift of Mr. Whitmore, is to be presented to the winning team, winner of two out of three contests.

Wedding of Miss Grice To Oliver Johnson Is Solemnized in Chicago

Miss Marguerite Grice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman B. Grice became the bride of Mr. Oliver G. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Johnson Thursday evening, September 1st, at half after eight o'clock, the ceremony being performed at the home of Mrs. Edward E. Kretschmer at Chicago so that the groom's mother, who has been ill, might be present.

To the strains of the Lohengrin march played by Miss Shirley Kretschmer, the bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her away in time honored fashion. Her gown was of white crepe and she carried a shower bouquet of roses, white sweet peas and valley lilies. Her only attendant, Mrs. Walter Arthur, was dressed in peach crepe and carried an arm bouquet of Ward roses and lavender sweet peas. The groom's brother, Mr. Frank Johnson, acted as best man.

The party formed under an arch of palms where the Reverend F. W. Otterhelm performed the ceremony, Charlotte Peck Walter acting as soloist.

After a buffet supper punctuated by the usual speeches, cake cutting ceremonies and music, the young couple escaped their rice laden relatives for a short trip to Wisconsin. They will be at home to their friends after September tenth at Antioch, Ill.

Others present at the ceremony were Mrs. R. D. Emmons, Miss Alice Emmons, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Grice, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson, all Antioch; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Theresa Kretschmer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Kretschmer, the Misses Harriet, Shirley and Clover Kretschmer of Chicago.

Antioch Schools Report Greatest Enrollment Yet

Antioch schools, both the grade school and Antioch township high school opened Tuesday morning with the greatest enrollment in history at both schools.

In the high school are enrolled 163 students as follows: seniors, 25; juniors, 31; sophomores, 46; freshmen, 61.

The grade school's largest enrollment is also reported, there being 198 pupils registered in the grades as follows: 1 and 2, 66; 3 and 4, 40; 5 and 6, 45; 7 and 8, 45; special room, 12. The new room for the second grade will be ready for use Monday.

E. O. Hawkins Is Victim of Robbery

E. O. Hawkins of Antioch was the victim of a robbery which occurred at his home on north Main Street Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins were awakened about 2:30 a. m. by hearing marauders in the room. When the thief perceived that he was observed he seized Mr. Hawkins clothing and fled, taking with him between $50 and $100 in cash. No clue to the identity of the robber was revealed.

Miss Davis in Hospital.

Miss Goldie Davis, Linotype operator in the Antioch News office, underwent an operation at Kenosha hospital Tuesday morning, and is reported as getting along as well as can be expected.

"MISS LIBERTY" IS CHOSEN FROM THE FAIR AT WAUKEGAN

"Miss Deerfield" is Victor Over Seven in Contest for Legion Crown

Seven young ladies, each adjudged the fairest by the region from which they came, passed in review before the judges on the final night of the Legion's big summer festival at Waukegan Monday night. They were: "Miss Antioch," Miss Helen Kettelhut; "Miss Lake Villa," Miss Juanita Nickerson; "Miss Waukegan," Miss Lucille Turk; "Miss North Chicago," Miss Mamie Zradka; "Miss Gages Lake," Miss Fay Rogers; "Miss Crystal Lake," Miss Ruth Meyer; "Miss Deerfield," Miss Evelyn Pence.

All of the young ladies were received with enthusiasm by the audience and the judgment of the community that chose each one of them was attested by the rounds of applause with which they were greeted.

"Miss Deerfield" was given the crown as "Miss Liberty," and second and third places were awarded to "Miss Crystal Lake" and "Miss North Chicago," respectively.

The summer festival, of which the beauty contest was one of the features, drew one of the largest crowds ever present at a public celebration at Waukegan.

Co. League Pennant and Detroit Trip Won By West Side A. C.

The final game in the series of the Lake County Amateur Baseball League was played at Waukegan Sunday between the West Side A. C., and the Cosover Boosters. Their success in defeating the Boosters won the West Side A. C., the pennant for the season and the privilege of representing the league in the National Amateur Tournament at Detroit, for which place they will leave next Thursday.

Car Stolen at Channel Lake Is Stripped of Parts

Emmett Webb had the misfortune to have his car stolen Sunday afternoon. He had parked it at Channel Lake and upon returning to where he had left it discovered that it had been stolen. He immediately instituted a search and the car was found later in the day but had been stripped of all removable parts.

HUNDREDS WATCH CHAMPION TRAIN AT CEDAR CREST

Tunney Nicked by Sparring Partner—Takes Two Day Layoff.

World's champion heavyweight boxer, Gene Tunney, who is now in training at Cedar Crest country club at Fox Lake in preparation for his title bout with Jack Dempsey at Soldier Field, Chicago, Sept. 22, took a layoff from ring work yesterday and today. The two-day rest given the champion's sparring partners is to allow a cut over Tunney's eye to heal. The champ was nicked Tuesday while boxing with Chuck Wiggins.

Will Resume Boxing Friday.

Beginning tomorrow there will be workouts three days in a row with a rest Monday. It was announced at the camp yesterday. The public workouts by Tunney and his partners began promptly at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon. Thousands have visited the training grounds since Tunney's arrival last Friday to see just how a champion looks in action. It costs spectators $1.10 a head to see the sparring exhibitions in the ring near the riding arena.

Champ Protests Lack of Privacy.

Rumors from the camp are to the effect that the champion is enjoying about as much privacy as a gold fish, and that orders have been given that guard around the camp be increased so that Tunney may have a day of rest unmolested by the curious. Newspaper photographers, who have insisted that Tunney pose in freakish ways, have been cause of no small annoyance to the champion.

"Miss Chain O' Lakes" Is Speediest Boat In Its Class in Waukegan Race

The speed boat race held in connection with the Waukegan Summer Festival in the Waukegan harbor Sunday afternoon was won by Wilbur Chinn driving "Miss Chain O' Lakes."

A. F. Scholz of Fox Lake in "Fire-plug II" placed second and Everett Wilbur of Waukegan in "Bluebird" was third. There was a purse of $150.00 for prizes for the winners.

Antioch Motor Sales Is Now Incorporated

The Antioch Motor Sales is now incorporated, the final necessary papers having been completed Tuesday of this week. Ronyard and Behenna were attorneys in the proceeding.

W. J. Huber, long connected with the company, is president of the newly organized concern, George Hadrick is vice president and F. L. Middelndorf is secretary and treasurer.

The company maintains a sales room at McHenry, Ill., and also operates a garage at Spring Grove. The Nippersink Garage at Fox Lake which was formerly owned by Middelndorf and Huber, has been sold to Elmer Schone.

SCHUMACHERS RETURN TO TEXAS AFTER SUMMER HERE

Mrs. H. Schumacher, daughter, Bernice, and son, Raymond, left Sunday for their home in San Antonio, Texas, after having spent the summer here with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klass. Raymond is a graduate of Texas A. and M. military school, class of 1927, and is now a commissioned officer in the United States army. Mrs. Schumacher has traveled extensively and is quoted as having said that Antioch is the liveliest town of its size she had ever had the pleasure of visiting.

The Labor Day crowd in this locality was as large or larger than in previous years. Eating places and rooming houses did their usual thriving business over the holiday.

Bob Morley has gone to Urbana where he will enter his freshman year at the University of Illinois.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—From the comfortable financial situation to which he had been born, Peter Milman, American gentleman of the old school, and last of his family, is practically reduced to penury through the misfortune of a friend, Haxton Brewer, whom he had unwisely trusted.

CHAPTER IV.—Milman explains to his guests how, chiefly through his belief in Floyd Malet as a great scoundrel and the victim of malevolent circumstances, he had subscribed to a press-clipping bureau and kept a detective on Haxton's track, learning much to Haxton's discredit, though nothing by which he could be reached legally. Himself impoverished through Haxton's financial crookedness, Milman proposes an association of the four men—an association outside the law—which shall pull down Haxton and force him to disgorge his ill-gotten financial gains.

CHAPTER II.—Learning of Brewer's suicide, which means the destruction of his last hope, Milman engages a French butler, Achille Lutter, who speaks no English, and is to replace Speed, servant of long standing. Lutter, Milman sends letters to Prof. Fleming Bradley, Floyd Malet and Neeland Barnes, men whom the world has charged with failures, once of high position, in Haxton's case, the three call on him at his home.

CHAPTER III.—After an excellent dinner Milman gathers his guests into his Japanese garden, where, after each has related the circumstances which wrecked their careers, he convinces them their misfortunes are directly traceable to the machinations of an unscrupulous enemy, a man who had risen to high financial position and political power by underhand methods, chiefly blackmail, Paul Haxton. Haxton also ruined Brewer, and incidentally Milman.

CHAPTER V.—Following Milman's disclosures, his three guests, after a consultation, practically decide to join him in the fight against Paul Haxton. Milman explains his ideas, admitting he has no real plan to bring about Haxton's downfall, except discreditable details about his personal and business life which he has gleaned from Herman Loddon, Haxton's tool on occasions when wine has loosened Loddon's tongue.

CHAPTER VI

Although Paul Haxton had always professed a great belief in his own destiny, he had never thought to be a multimillionaire. He found himself, suddenly, a national figure. It amused him to read newspaper accounts of himself. People assumed that he had newly come to New York, whereas he had been for years a power working through other men.

It was as an architect's clerk he discovered the graft which was possible in the building trade. Among the group of illiterate men who were holding up big jobs and levying blackmail from contractors in the name of labor, he soon became a leader. He was cautious, educated and supremely cunning. The price of success was the betrayal of his benefactor, and he had not hesitated to make it.

At the age of forty-two he took his place with the living powers in Wall Street, hated by many, liked by few, but despised by none. Publicly overwhelmed him at last. Mrs. Haxton and her family returned from Europe, where for some years they had lived. At a large price he purchased Great Rock, formerly the home of Wellington of the Traction trust, and he knew he must fill it with his wife's friends and entertain in the manner of the very rich.

At this period of his life the idea of power obsessed him. He did not want to run the risk of losing what he had gained. He was not anxious for any unsavory episodes of his past to arise. There had been many, and with most women were concerned. He grew less intrigued with women as the idea of senatorial honors forced itself upon him. Senator Haxton of New York! No state honors for him. He desired to be sent to Washington. Loddon, his lawyer, licked his thick lips at the thought.

"I'm satisfied," said Haxton, "that nobody can pull me down. Jim Caffray was dangerous, but he's in Sing Sing for seven years."

"He'll be out in five," said Loddon, "and Jim's dangerous, because he knows a lot."

"Jim will be out in less than that," Haxton retorted. "Bright's disease. He's incurable. You look like a Bright's disease type, Loddon. Better be moderate if you want to help me to the United States senate. I've got a chance. Women are voting against the old machine type of politician, and I'm going to cultivate the women and pose as the pioneer of a new day." Haxton chuckled a little.

He was a tired-looking man, slim, and a little stooped. He had fine hands and good features. He could bring readily to his aid the salesman's forced enthusiasm, which seemed genuine to those who did not know him. He knew he would do well in politics if no old ghosts arose to confound him. For years now he had been living among men immeasurably beneath him in intelligence; a lucky turn had made him independent of them.

To go to the senate from New York would be an expensive matter, but he was prepared to pay. To that end it would be necessary to conserve his fortune. His wife, after years of living in second-rate hotels, was inclined to a reckless extravagance. Domestic life at Great Rock was strained. Yet Haxton saw that the era of great entertainments was at hand. He knew that as he was now a man in the public eye, he had better do the thing well. The life of relatively small things was over. Not again would he deal with the baser sort of men. Much of his amusement came from watching the men he controlled trying to assert themselves. There was Loddon, for instance. At heart, of the shyest lawyer type and filled with the ideals of petty graft, a wealthy benefactor had bought him a partnership with a respectable firm and he had to guide his professional conduct accordingly. Loddon for the moment was filled with glee at his own fortune. He wished Haxton to regard him as an equal instead of snapping orders at him. He ventured to disagree with his patron.

"My goodness," Haxton said, stopping him with a gesture, "is due to two things. One is a total absence of pity. Another that I only use men that I can crush if they get out of hand. Jim Caffray was one. You're another." He looked at the gross, formless creature and sneered. "When I pipe, you shall dance; and if you don't dance to my liking, what happens? The Bar association will disbar you. You may try to incriminate me, but you haven't a shred of evidence of anything crooked, not a check, letter, telegram, or a dictaphone conversation. Keep me in good humor, Loddon, and work for me and you'll go far. Try to be independent, or indiscreet, and I shall break you."

"Why, Paul," Loddon cried, "what's got into you? I'm the loyal follower you ever had, and you know it." Haxton smiled. "I want intelligent loyalty, and you're not overburdened with intelligence any more than Caffray was. I'm not underestimating you. You've been useful to me in a number of ways."

"Thank you," said Loddon, almost bitterly. He thought of certain unprofessional things he had done at his patron's bidding which had, in effect, delivered him bound hand and foot to Haxton.

That Haxton aspired to a United States senatorship seemed a laudable enough ambition. But that he had a chance seemed, on reflection, almost absurd. And yet Haxton was not the kind of man to delude himself. Loddon voiced his doubts.

"McKimber is the party's nominee," he observed. "Of course, he'll carry New York city, and they say he'll get more votes up-state than any possible candidate."

"The party will get the votes, not the man," said Haxton.

"But McKimber's the party's choice," Loddon persisted.

"It looks that way, doesn't it?" Haxton smiled. "McKimber's very popular."

"You're keeping something back," said Loddon.

"I always do. That's why I get on. That's why I'm going to the senate."

His hands clasped behind him, Paul Haxton stood at a window and looked over the sound. Loddon talked, but he did not listen. Haxton saw himself in a few years as the greatest money power in America. All his future was carefully planned. He was now engaged in mapping out a present. He appreciated the power of women politically and knew he must appear as a home-loving man, a man who was notoriously good to his wife and children. Fortunately, all of them were attractive physically.

He was interrupted by Mrs. Haxton. She was a handsome, dark woman who had only just discovered that while she had been living abroad her husband had become enormously wealthy. She had the sense of a personal grievance against him highly developed. He could see she was prepared for battle.

"I want a suitable allowance for myself and the children," she began. "I want a banking account and my own limousine and chauffeur." She had thrown down the gage and waited, a little frightened, for what was coming. Paul had always seemed incomprehensible. She did not understand him now. When he smiled it might be, she supposed, the prelude to some biting sarcasm.

"Certainly," he said. "A very good idea. Fortunately, Loddon is here. Talk it over with him. I am very willing that you should take your place in society. I only ask that you will be careful with what people you fill my house. I'm after big game, and if I rise you'll go up with me. Talk it over with Herman." He smiled and walked slowly from the room.

And while Marie Haxton was passing an enthralling hour discovering her many needs, and her husband was wondering how best to start to beautify Wellington's enormous building, some men in Lower Fifth avenue were discussing his ruin.

Malet had returned from Philadelphia, where he had thrown up his position. Already another laboratory assistant had taken Bradley's place. The two had yielded to Peter Milman's importunities and agreed to remain as his guests. Neeland Barnes had not yet come back from Peekskill. He had gone with the avowed intention of paying Lippsky something off his account and hurrying back with some clothes.

So that he might escape the ridicule attending a man who reaches his suburban home in full evening dress at midday, Barnes arranged to come to his distasteful abode when it was dusk. He wanted to remove his entire wardrobe from the Lippsky shack and pay as little of the deferred rent as possible.

In Lippsky's front yard, which commanded a view of his tenant's entrances and exits, the aggrieved landlord was trying to bring to maturity depressed looking vegetables. His eyes glistened when he saw who approached. He dropped his spade and hurried to meet Neeland Barnes.

"Was you expecting a lady?" he demanded.

"Good God, no!" Barnes stopped instantly. Had old ghosts arisen to confound him?

"Has any woman the right to go in and monkey about with your things?"

"Absolutely nobody," Barnes cried.

"Mr. Barnes," said Lippsky shrilly, "you are a loafer. You sent her in to get your clothes so you should go away and leave me without nothing to hold. I got your number, and by golly I got her. I locked her in, and I tell her if she makes a fuss I send for the police. You thought you should find me out. You know this is my lodge light."

"I didn't know there was a lodge low enough to admit you," Barnes said angrily, "and I sent nobody here. Send for the police. I've had enough of your d-d insolence."

"Pretending she was a fine lady," said Lippsky, who was growing angry. "Looking at me and my house as though we was dirt. She wouldn't believe you lived here. I tell her right quick you wouldn't even be living here if you didn't come over with rent."

"My good man," he began, "what the devil are you ranting about?"

"I tell her," Lippsky went on, unrepentant, "you could go out with your fine gentleman's clothes on, and a silk hat even, and treat me like dirt. I'm a citizen here same as you, and this is an end of you walking over me with your silk hat and your fifteen dollar shoes. I tell her the price of them shoes. I tell her to scream all she likes, nobody hears away up here."

"You mean to say you've locked a strange woman up in my house?"

"It's my house. If you pay the rent, you can go in and get your clothes. If you don't, you stay out." Feverishly Lippsky destroyed whatever chance of life a row of kohl-rub might have had. Then, when he saw his tenant march toward the shack, he followed.

"She Called My House a Pigsty."

"One of them yellow hairs," he scolded as he trotted by the tall man's side. "A swell lady who said she didn't know how you could live in such a pigsty. She called my house a pigsty. Well, she's been locked up in a pigsty since it was my dinner time." Suddenly Barnes' powerful hand seized Lippsky.

"If you don't give me the key," he said, "I'll twist your arm out of its socket." Barnes turned the other's wrist a little.

"You shall sleep in the jail for this," Lippsky cried when the key was forced from him.

"It will be less verminous than this place, Barnes answered. He put his key in the door and threw it open. He was wholly at a loss to know whom the invader could be.

The noise of the opening awoke her. She was a tall, slim girl with golden hair, in a white knitted sports suit. When she saw him she held out her arms.

THE "GET-RICH-QUICK EXPRESS"

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

SO many millions of people have been defrauded out of their savings that it is the most natural thing for them to assume that the failure of any company in which they have stock is due to dishonest manipulations within the company.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

The facts are that many companies go on the rocks financially due to mismanagement and poor judgment and without any intent on the part of those in charge to defraud the stockholders.

Because men of good moral character organize a company for the purpose of engaging in some business enterprise is no assurance in itself that the business will succeed. Good intentions are one thing and business ability another, and usually unless there is plenty of business ability the business fails.

Before you invest in any new enterprise you should not only satisfy yourself as to the integrity of the managers but you should be certain that they have the experience, the technical knowledge and the ability to make the business a success.

What I am seeking to emphasize is the importance of making a thorough investigation before you draw your savings from the bank and entrust them in the hands of persons who may lose them, not through dishonesty but through poor business judgment.

Too many inexperienced investors rely on hearsay and on information too general to be at all adequate, when it comes to parting with their cash. So I say, make it a rule always to go to the bottom of every investment, and as it costs nothing to consult your banker, or the local Better Business Bureau, or the National Better Business Bureau, New York City, leave no stone unturned in order that you get the facts.

If you find that the organizers are trying to avoid an investigation, take that as a tip for making a most searching investigation.

In making investments a hasty investigation, or a superficial investigation is a most dangerous thing. To get the facts about an investment you usually have to dig deep and wide, and no rush investigation permits you to do this. Promoters of the worst type often welcome a hasty investigation, knowing that it does not give the investor sufficient time to get below the beautifully camouflaged surface finish with which they have so adroitly clothed their fake stock.

The road to happiness and contentment lies along the route to safe investment, the road made safe by the slogan, "Investigate Before You Invest." At no point does this safe road run parallel, cross or form a junction with the route carrying the "Get-rich-quick Express." And although the safe route is devoid of thrills and the excitement peculiar to the other route, it is also devoid of its worries, heartaches and disappointments.

Although the safe investment route makes no rash promises of "independence for life," or "a million a minute," and although it does not use the slogan, "Ride along with us to Fortune and Live in Ease and Comfort in your Old Age," it actually brings comfort, independence and happiness to those who travel it, while the other route leads to despair, drudgery and poverty.

According to a certain survey of investments sold to the public by irresponsible promoters 97 per cent proved to be a total loss, notwithstanding they were sold with the assurance that they would bring financial independence for life.

Of new promotions sold to the public in a certain city more than 80 per cent were doomed to failure from the beginning for they were waterlogged with too much free promotion stock given to the organizers. It is said of most oil promotions 85 per cent are doomed to failure before a share of stock is actually sold.

So I repeat, you cannot afford to take the "Get-rich-quick Express," for she's headed for the ditch.

Dam Meeting!

OF ALL RESIDENTS AND PROPERTY OWNERS of "THE CHAIN O' LAKES" of Lake County, Illinois, to be held SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1927, at 2 p. m.—standard time—3 p. m., daylight saving time, in the tent on route 21—south limits of Antioch.

If YOU do not know, YOU should know that at the last session of the ILLINOIS STATE LEGISLATURE, an APPROPRIATION of $175,000.00 was voted through the good work of Lake County's Representative Wm. F. WEISS, for the construction of a NEW ELECTRICALLY OPERATED DAM and LOCKS to be located on the Fox River near Pistakee Bay, ALSO, an additional appropriation of $10,000.00 for the repairing of the old McHenry dam at its present site.

It is YOUR DUTY to be present at this most IMPORTANT MEETING to aid us in procuring this much needed DAM which will enable us to maintain proper water levels throughout all the LAKES north of the Dam, thus preserving our WATER FRONTAGE, and giving us water of sufficient depth for our boats to pass through the LAKES and CONNECTING CHANNELS. We are not against the improvement of the present old dam at McHenry, but to the contrary we approve the repairing of this dam so as to maintain a PROPER WATER LEVEL for the residents along the Fox River, also such Dams and Locks as may be necessary to maintain a proper water level for the entire length of the Fox River.

At this meeting the Hon. Wm. F. Weiss, your representative, will be present and appropriate RESOLUTIONS will be presented for YOUR ADOPTION and to be sent to Governor LEN SMALL.

DON'T FAIL TO ATTEND,—and BRING YOUR NEIGHBORS. This is of great importance to every RESIDENT and PROPERTY OWNER.

Wednesday evening testimony meeting at eight o'clock. A reading room maintained at this address is open Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 8:00 o'clock.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The Reverend William K. Louthbour, well known in Methodist circles throughout Rock River Conference where he has preached for over thirty three years will preach at the M. E. Church next Sunday morning. Rev. Louthbour is no stranger to Antioch and will be doubly welcome, first as a minister of the Gospel and secondly because he is the father of Mrs. Lloyd Wetzel. This pioneer preacher who has spent many years on the plains of the west when the West was yet wild will have a message of interest to all who follow the Christ. Come out and bring a friend.

Sunday September 18 the church will hold a Church and Sunday school family picnic. Those going will meet at the church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and from thence to a wooded grove to be announced later, where a service of worship will be held, this to be followed by an old fashioned picnic dinner. The program for the afternoon will be held a secret but the committee promise that time will not drag on anyone's hands. There will be something doing every moment. The picnic will not be confined to Methodist folks but rather the community will be welcomed to join in and make this an occasion long remembered.

The promotion day for the Sunday School is set for September 25. Parents of scholars in the school should be present on that day for the program of promotion. Special attention is being given to make it of interest to adults as well as the children of the school.

LAKE VILLA CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Church School 10 a. m.
Worship 11 a. m.

The vacation season is now over and school has started. We extend a hearty welcome to those who have been too busy during the summer or who have been out of town to attend our services.

The Junior Choir made a Pilgrimage. There were 20 people in the party to Lake Geneva last Sunday afternoon and a very good time was reported.

This Choir under the leadership of Miss Richardson has been rendering splendid service, and as a token of this there will be some other things to appreciation this trip was given.

Sunday the 18th, of Sept. is the date set for rally day.

Let us make this a real helpful day.

R. J. L. Mc Kelvey, Minister.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SUBSTANCE" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 11.

The Golden Text was from I Cor. 2:9, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Riches and honour are with me; yea, durable riches and righteousness. I lead in the way of righteousness, in the midst of the paths of judgment: That I may cause those that love me to inherit substance; and I will fill their treasures" (Proverbs 8: 18, 20, 21).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter. The belief that man has any other substance, or mind, is not spiritual and breaks the First Commandment. Thou shalt have one God, one Mind" (p. 301).

ST. IGNATIUS' CHURCH NOTES

(Episcopal).
Calendar—13th. Sun. After Trinity.
9:45—Church School.

11:00—Matins and Sermon.

Next Sunday will mark the opening of our Church school for 1927-28. There are classes for those of all ages and every loyal former member or new one will want to be present on time next Sunday morning.

The time of Morning Prayer has been changed and it is hoped that this will be more convenient for members who have thought that the earlier hour was too early.

There will be no celebration of the Holy Communion until the regular service is held. That is to say, on Sunday, September 18.

PRIZE AUCTIONS GET YOUR MONEY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association
(This is one of a series of articles exposing the wiles of sharpers who are after your money.)

NEARLY everyone is ready "to take a flogging" at getting something for nothing or at least for less than it is worth. Because of this many are duped into paying more than regular market prices for things they buy. This class of people is especially susceptible to the appeal of anything resembling an auction. Fake auctions with the cards stacked against the buyer are very common. They rank high among the fraudulent schemes of the country.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

The "here today and gone tomorrow" auction faker rents a fine looking house in some high-class section of the city in which he plans to operate. He furnishes this house with the cheapest imitations of high-class furnishings, with here and there a fine piece which is to serve for bait. Certain pieces are alleged antiques with a thread of glorious history behind them. Of others it is claimed that they have been handed down for generations, originating with some person noted in history or with some famous Southern family. Of other pieces it is maintained that they are made of rare and precious woods imported from far across the sea. The overstuffed furniture, it is claimed, is all high grade of standard manufacture.

Regardless of its superiority and antiquity, the furniture must be sold at once, for the owner is compelled to take an extended trip, the family physician having ordered travel and a change of climate as a means of saving his life. Nothing is to be spared and the deep slashings of the auctioneer's axe must go on with no price too low. Individual pre-auction sales, of course, will be arranged for persons who are unable to attend the auction.

The day of the sale is here. Purchasers are arriving. They are met at the door by the woman member of the outfit—a dramatic person who knows when to shed tears at the thought of having her happy home broken up and her valuable furnishings they find hanging in the front window a sign, "For Rent." The birds have flown, without leaving any address. Fake auctions are not exclusive to residences, but are sometimes staged in stores. We have reports of a certain furniture firm that failed, having on hand stock valued at $42,000. An auction sale was announced. As usual the stock must be closed out to satisfy creditors within a few days, regardless of cost. On the windows appeared glaring announcements of big bargains. Although represented as a legitimate sale, it had the earmarks of an auction by ings torn from her. She tells her sad story—how she must leave her home and go to distant lands with her husband whose health is broken and life in danger. But she is resigned to her "awful calamity" and will sell all her lovely furniture even at a great sacrifice.

As she directs attention to certain pieces of furniture her voice quavers. She almost sobs aloud as she names the price she is forced to accept. "Less than half the original cost, but price is no object. We must take the train tomorrow," and she wipes a tear from her eye. Fully convinced the sale is genuine, and sympathizing with the unfortunate woman, buyers clamor for the furniture.

But no sooner are the articles transferred from their setting in the brightly lighted rooms of their original owner and displayed in the sunlight of the purchaser's home, than the truth about the sale begins to dawn in the mind of each new owner. Close examination reveals that evidently this wonderful collection of furniture was but odds and ends and unsalable pieces picked up from second-hand stores by these fly-by-night fakers. Some proves to be the rankest of imitations of the cheapest grade, and the overstuffed is so poorly constructed that it squeaks and weaves under the lightest weight.

Why RED TOP Steel Posts Are Better

Check up on each of these points. Aren't they just the points you want in a fence post?

Made only of tough, durable seasoned railroad rail steel—long lived in the fence line.

The One-Man Handy-Fastener easy to apply, holds fence permanently in place.

Studied to reinforce the fence post.

Finished-on-aluminum finish in rust-resistant. Adds to appearance of fence line.

No joints needed to make a post. Easy driving. Triangular section plate riveted to side. Former post lances.

STARTING with RED TOP Posts and the RED TOP Driver this is what you alone can do:

Drive 200 to 300 posts a day through the hardest soil. This means you can get rid of all your fence work this Fall—repairs and everything.

Red Top Steel Fence Posts

GUARANTEED

YOU can even build that new fence you've been thinking about—do it quickly and what's more—be done with that fence job for many long years.

Come in and let us show you on an actual post the differences that sold us on RED TOPS and make us recommend them so strongly. Then, too, we can show you how doing a little fencing this Fall will turn waste into profit. It's a good idea—one that will repay the fencing cost in a couple of years and, after that, make extra profits for you.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS IN BRIEF

August 30, the new grandstand, seating three times as many people as its predecessor, was sold out for the auto races. During the races the world's record for 10 miles, on a one mile dirt track, was reduced from 7:44 to 7:22, thus establishing a new record. W. H. Pingrey, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was the winner of the 25 mile event with a Frontenac owned by William H. Jefferies of Chicago.

When the new race track was used for horse racing for the first time Monday afternoon, the 2:17 pace winner was S. F. Palla, of Indianapolis, driving Riley, at a mark of 2:05 1/4.

At the poultry exposition more poultry, pigeons and rabbits competed for prizes than have ever before been entered for competition in any poultry show. This is the second consecutive year in which the state fair poultry show has broken all records. In addition to a large poultry pavilion three ornate barns and all available space surrounding them was pressed to display poultry.

Owing to the fact that beef and dairy cattle in larger numbers than ever before, were placed on exhibition, it was necessary to put up a number of circus tents to house prize winning cattle. In almost every class of the cattle department the number and quality of entries exceed all past records.

The society horse show, given each night from Monday to Friday inclusive, tested the seating capacity of the coliseum. Show horses from distant states in large numbers competed in the array of events each evening.

Len Small, Jr., of Kankakee, was an outstanding exhibitor in bantam classes of poultry. This youthful fancier's bantams carried off all honors for which they competed. The boy is a son of Leslie Small and a grandson of Governor Small.

The Springfield Flying club, an organization of homing pigeon fanciers, presented a novel feature each afternoon on the free set platform. Twenty racing homers from the association's loft in Springfield were released and flew homeward each afternoon. The records made in the various flights averaged 1600 yards per minute.

"Eat ice cream, the perfect food, healthful and economical" is the title of a booklet distributed by the Illinois Department of Agriculture in the dairy products exposition. This booklet contains endorsements and illustrations tending to promote the sale of ice cream during the summer as a means of marketing peak production of milk and cream from the farms of Illinois. This booklet will be mailed upon request to the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

The dairy exposition represents the splendid co-operation between the state department of agriculture, the butter manufacturer's association, the ice cream manufacturer's association, the Illinois dairymen's association and other agencies connected with the production and distribution of milk and its derivatives. In the refrigerator, centrally located in the Dairy Products building, a statue in butter was shown, representing a cow drinking at a typical farm well. The dairy division also exhibited a sculptured bust of Gov. Small made of pure creamery butter. The ice cream manufacturer's association ran a miniature ice cream factory and distributed its product free to all comers twice daily.

In the dairy exposition, the development of dairy husbandry, with the co-operation of the Illinois Dairymen's association, presents interesting illustrations of the source and objective of milk. Energy stored in wholesome milk and its products is traced from feed and forage through the cow to the dairy plant, thence in various forms of dairy products to the American home, from which emerge a line of individuals headed for schools and industries with energy and ambition created by the use of dairy products.

The division of foods and dairies of the Illinois Department of Agriculture has an interesting exhibit in the Dairy Products building. A mechanical device shifting 12 scenes, with brief inscriptions, tells the story of food inspection in Illinois, starting with inspection of any place in which food is distributed. It goes through the process of collecting suspicious food commodities and subjecting them to laboratory inspection. It shows how pure food violators are given private hearings and the opportunity of correcting errors without embarrassment and how willful violators are prosecuted. Correcting of erroneous labels is also illustrated. This inspection service, according to the records, costs Illinois taxpayers approximately two cents per capita per annum.

The United States Department of Agriculture and the Illinois Department of Agriculture co-operating through the division of crop estimates, present a display, by means of charts and maps, giving comparative statistical information on the production and value of sundry crops and livestock. This visual education shows comparison between 10 leading countries of the world, the states of the Union, and counties of Illinois. At this booth a number of publications issued by two departments jointly are distributed. Of these, the August crop report and annual report of crops and livestock, showing comparisons over a period of several years, are heavily in demand. These and other publications are mailed upon request to the division of co-operative crop estimates, Department of Agriculture, Springfield.

Governor Len Small was the guest of honor Monday evening at the third annual state fair hog men's banquet. The hosts were J. S. Miles, of Petersburg, and his son who are, respectively, member in charge and superintendent of the swine department.

House Bill 284 (Weiss). Amends certain sections of the Local Improvement Act. The local improvement ordinance, and the special assessment notices pertaining to estimates of cost exceeding the sum of $200,000 may be published in a daily or weekly newspaper published in the city, village or town, or, if no newspaper be published in the city, village or town, then in a newspaper of general circulation there in. Provides for retirement of bonds by city, making of assessment rolls, and rejecting of bids in case of default. Sections 43 and 81 of this Act were amended and section 74 added thereto by amendments to this bill in the Senate; but the title of the Amendment Act was not changed to include said Senate amendments to the bill.

House Bill 285 (Weiss). Provides for establishing a College of Journalism at the University of Illinois and appropriates $30,000, for the biennium, for that purpose.

House Bill 291 (Baker, by request). Amends section 4 of the County Treasurer's Act so that the county treasurer may appoint deputies. The treasurer in all cases is to be responsible for the acts of his deputies.

House Bill 292 (Beckman). Validates the organization of certain park districts where the statutory provisions were substantially complied with.

House Bill 299 (Hoff). An Act to validate the organization of certain township high school districts where defects exist in the procedure incident thereto.

House Bill 301 (Bray). Amends certain sections of Cities Court's Act of 1901 and adds three sections thereto. Changes terms of city judges, clerks of City Courts from four to six years; authorizes the clerk of any City Court to designate and call any City Court judge to hold court in case of the death, resignation or disability of the judge of said clerk's court. Gives City Courts the same jurisdiction, over delinquent children within the city, as possessed by any other court; regulates the prosecution of misdemeanors by information and the fixing of bail. Provides for change of venue from City Courts.

House Bill 304 (Martens). Adds section 22 to an Act in relation to mortgages of real and personal property, giving a junior mortgagee the right to pay amounts due to a senior mortgagee to prevent foreclosure, and making the amount so advanced a part of the debt secured by such junior mortgage.

House Bill 307 (Curran). Appropriates $4,525,025.00 for the biennium beginning July 1, 1927, to pay officers of the State government and members of the next General Assembly. Certain items of this Act were vetoed by the Governor.

House Bill 308 (Curran). Makes an appropriation of $7,000 to the 71 Judges of the Circuit Court who are elected on the first Monday of June, 1927, to pay the increase in compensation due such judges for the month of June, 1927, at the rate provided by law.

House Bill 309 (Curran). Appropriates $65,340 to the Illinois Farmers' Institute; $2,400 to the Illinois State Beekeepers' Association; $5,980 to the Illinois State Dairymen's Association; $15,000 to the Illinois State Horticultural Society; $2,000 to the Illinois Firemen's Association; $6,500 to the Grand Army Hall and Memorial Association; $3,000 to the United Spanish War Veterans, Department of Illinois; $2,500 to the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Department of Illinois; $3,000 to the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Illinois, for the biennium ending June 30, 1929, and $2,500 to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Department of Illinois.

House Bill 310 (Davis). Authorizes Department of Purchases and Construction to erect a monument in Murphysboro to the memory of General John A. Logan; appropriates $15,000 therefor.

House Bill 314 (Foster). An Act to prevent the spread of rabies; provides that where a case of rabies has occurred in a locality the Department of Agriculture, in order to prevent the spreading of rabies shall have power to order the owner of any dogs in the locality to lock up; restrain or muzzle such dogs and to take such further prophylactic measures as the Department of Agriculture may deem necessary, to prevent the spreading of rabies. Penalty.

House Bill 316 (Overland). Authorizes the West Chicago Park Commissioners to incur an additional indebtedness of not to exceed $10,000, for the purpose of establishing, enlarging, inclosing, ornamenting, building, rebuilding and improving public parks, boulevards and other public grounds under its control and within its jurisdiction. Provides that the question of issuance of bond shall be referred to the people at either a general or special election.

House Bill 317 (Overland). Amends certain sections of "An Act providing an annuity and benefit fund for park policemen," approved June 29, 1921, and adds section 57 thereto. Increases the maximum amount of salary upon which annuity shall be payable under the provisions of this Act from $2,600 to $3,000. Provides that in computing the terms of service, the policeman shall be credited with time spent in military or naval service of the United States during war, if the policeman was on a leave of absence. Provides for reciprocity as to pensions between the various park boards.

Silica in Commerce

The geological survey says that silica occurs in nature as a mineral of economic importance in quartz, sand, etc. Good grades of silica are used for glass making. It may also be used in paint, as a wood filler, a wood polisher; in the manufacture of china and porcelain, as an abrasive, a scouring and cleansing agent, and as a heat and sound insulator.

400 EXTRA DRY

SHELL GASOLINE

SHELL MOTOR OIL

For Perfect Performance
USE THEM BOTH

Ordinary gasoline gives ordinary service. Ordinary motor oil gives ordinary service. But why be satisfied with this, when Shell gives extraordinary service at no extra cost? Use 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline and Golden Clear Shell Motor Oil — the perfectly balanced combination which reduces carbon, gives quicker pick-up, greater power and speed, and adds miles of life to any car.

Engine sluggishness is usually due to two causes. Certain gasolines do not burn completely because they do not vaporize completely — unburned particles seep past the piston rings and dilute the lubricating oil in the crankcase. Certain motor oils are deficient in lubricating properties — and because they contain excess carbon it is inevitable that they deposit excess carbon in the motor.

What your car needs, therefore, is a combination of specially refined, thorough-burning gasoline, and golden clear motor oil that is practically free from carbon.

400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline and Golden Clear Shell Motor Oil are made to go together — to work together in perfect harmony. Each supplements the virtues of the other to give a new joy to driving — a new freedom from engine knocks, loss of power, expense of overhauling and premature wear.

Drive to the nearest Shell yellow-red Service Station or authorized Shell Dealer — fill your tank with 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline — have the crankcase drained and refilled with Golden Clear Shell Motor Oil — your car will show an immediate improvement in operation that will daily become more evident.

Largest of Chipmunks

Townsend's chipmunk is the darkest of the many species of chipmunk in the western states and ranges along the Pacific coast. It is distinctly larger and stronger than its relatives, says Nature Magazine. Chipmunks carry their stores in cheek pouches to some specially selected spot, where they leisurely enjoy their meal and leave a telltale pile of shells and seed coverings. Average adult measurement is 10 inches.

Wild Drive

A Philadelphia golfer made a world's record by driving a ball that rang in a fire alarm. A wild hook went out of bounds, broke the glass of the box, hit the lever, and brought engines on the run. It was the "longest shot of his career."

Cellar Sanitation

Cellar walls should be whitewashed once or twice a year. Whitewash is a disinfectant. If the cellar walls admit moisture, it is recommended to wash them with a dilute solution of hydrochloric acid (one part acid and five parts water) and then apply a plaster of mixed mortar.

Confidence and Quiet

Among the common people whom we know it is not necessarily those who are busiest, but those who, meteor-like, are over on the rush after some visible change and work. It is the lives like the stars, which simply pour down on us the calm light of their bright and faithful being, up to which we look, and out of which we gather the deepest calm and courage.—Phillips Brooks.

BETTER FARMING AT LOWER COSTS

By DAN H. OTIS

Director Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association

PRODUCTIVITY of labor in several industries shows a remarkable increase in output per man since 1914. In the iron and steel industry there has been an increase of 59 per cent; boots and shoes, 6 per cent; leather tanning, 26 per cent; slaughtering and meat packing, 27 per cent; petroleum refining, 83 per cent; paper and pulp, 34 per cent; cement, 61 per cent; automobiles, 172 per cent; rubber tires, 211 per cent. These lowering costs of production have made it possible for industry to face the hazards of over-production.

Industry has laboratories that are lowering production costs. In the agricultural colleges the farmers have their laboratories—experiment stations that are constantly working on problems affecting farmers' interests, and in them many methods have been worked out by which it is possible to increase materially the yield, reduce the cost of production and follow the same business principles that have been followed by industry.

Farm costs may be reduced through improved live stock. If there were only pure-bred live stock on the farms and ranges, we could get along with millions less animals, and that would release millions of acres for other purposes.

The accompanying table shows what each of seven items of live stock is producing; what each of these items could be made to produce by improved methods, and finally what the saving would be in each class. It gives a total national saving of over two billion dollars.

Kind	Number	Production	Per Head	Possible by Improved Methods			Total Saving
				Per Head	Number Needed	Reduction in Number
Dairy cows	22,229,930	9,129,300,000 lbs.	412 lbs.	700 lbs.	13,017,151	9,212,779	$51,552,719
Beef	2,565,000	4,935,000,000 lbs.	800 lbs.	1,200 lbs.	4,150,000	1,415,000	27,314,750
Mutton and lamb	12,001,000	457,000,000 lbs.	38 lbs.	60 lbs.	7,683,667	4,317,333	87,616,990
Sheep	35,000,150	227,100,177 lbs.	6 lbs.	10 lbs.	23,340,117	11,659,033	23,645,350
Pork	13,043,000	4,500,000,000 lbs.	130 lbs.	200 lbs.	22,500,000	9,457,000	18,457,000
Birds	8,170,000	5,210,000,000 lbs.	100 lbs.	150 lbs.	34,400,000	26,230,000	52,460,000
Chickens	69,200,000	1,013,200,179	15 lbs.	25 lbs.	40,080,000	29,120,000	58,240,000
Total

From this table it will be noticed that, if we could obtain a reasonable average production per head, then the number of milk cows could be reduced from 22,000,000 to 13,000,000, or a reduction of 9,000,000, and still maintain the present supply of dairy products. This would involve increasing the production per cow from 3,649 pounds of milk to 6,077 pounds, an increase easily possible through good selection, breeding and feeding.

Beef animals vary in age all the way from one to three years. The present number of animals slaughtered and inspected would be sufficient under improved methods to produce the present amount of beef, and Anger is indeed poured and perplexed into froth; but malice is the wisdom of our wrath.—Sir W. Davenant.

It would be possible to maintain the present supply of slaughtered and inspected pork and cut down nearly 17,000,000 on the number of hogs to produce it. Similar analyses apply to the other items listed in the table.
